

Revision week information

The revision week is the 9th week of Hilary term. During that week, each 2nd and 3rd year tutor will arrange a 4-hour revision class with their group to help you to start getting ready for the examinations. You should plan to stay on campus during that week.

No homework is required in advance of the revision tutorials. In general, tutors will set problems to discuss. However, please do prepare your questions and also please let your tutor know in advance if there is any subject you would like to review during the revision class.

A dinner for all students and tutors will be provided in a local pub/restaurant by the College – typically on Monday evening. The responsible tutor will get in touch with you.
